Dear Friends,

On behalf of the City of Los Angeles, it is my pleasure to join all Angelenos in celebrating Asian Pacific American Heritage Month.

Asian and Pacific Angelenos have a rich history of triumph that has shaped the foundation of our city. In every sector – from the arts, academia, businesses, and in our neighborhoods – our Asian and Pacific American community continues to bring invaluable contributions to all corners of our great city.

I hope you will use this Cultural Guide created by our Department of Cultural Affairs to enjoy the art of local Asian Pacific American artists. In celebration of this beautiful month, the department is showcasing work from emerging and established artists, but unfortunately had to omit the many enjoyable and educational events usually held due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

I hope the art in this guide also inspires you and uplifts your spirit, as I know how much we treasure cultural celebrations in the City of Angels. So during this difficult time, I send my best wishes for a memorable month of celebration and continued success.

Sincerely,

Eric Garcetti
Mayor
City of Los Angeles
Dear Friends,

On behalf of the Los Angeles City Council, it is my privilege to invite you to celebrate Asian Pacific American Heritage Month in Los Angeles! People from around the world have made this great city their home, and each contributes to the diversity that makes it one of the most iconic and culturally rich cities in the world.

This month, we continue to honor the contributions and achievements of our City’s Asian Pacific Americans. With this guide, the Department of Cultural Affairs (DCA) highlights the work of local artists who keep our shared Asian and Pacific Islander American traditions alive and thriving. DCA has curated a wide array of work by these artists for your enjoyment.

We usually invite you to find the numerous festivals, musical events, theatrical performances, films, literary events, and cultural activities happening in your neighborhood and beyond in celebration of Asian and Pacific American Heritage Month.

However, since most 2020 events have been canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, I encourage you to enjoy the amazing work by our local artists highlighted throughout these pages. Please take note of their considerable talent and seek them out and support them well beyond Asian Pacific American Heritage Month.

In the City of Angels, we all need to support our fellow Angelenos during these difficult and challenging times, and that certainly includes our unique, talented, and diverse community of artists.

Sincerely,

Nury Martinez
Los Angeles City Council President
Councilwoman, Sixth District

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the City of Los Angeles, it is my pleasure to invite you to celebrate Asian Pacific American Heritage Month (APAHM). As the first Korean American and second Asian Pacific American to serve on the Los Angeles City Council, this month holds special significance for me and for the journey of Asian Pacific Americans in Los Angeles.

Every May, communities across our City and our Nation pay a month-long tribute to the generations of APAs who have enriched our culture, economy, and history, and celebrate the millions of APAs leading the way today. As the fastest growing ethnic group in America, APAs are increasingly influential in shaping America’s identity and progress. APAs are creating, leading, and innovating toward a brighter tomorrow.

This year, APAHM will look a little different. All of us are staying safe by staying at home, and supporting our frontline healthcare workers by doing our best to limit social interaction. However, art and culture always find a way - and in Los Angeles, it’s a way of life. This month-long celebration showcases a rich fabric in our City’s diverse tapestry, and how our unique backgrounds and experiences make our City stronger. I encourage you to enjoy the Asian Pacific American art showcased in this guide, as our special events throughout May have been cancelled due to COVID-19.

We all benefit when we celebrate the cultures of Los Angeles and develop a closer understanding of what it means to be an Angeleno, an American, and a global citizen.

I am grateful for your support.

Sincerely,

David E. Ryu
Councilmember, Fourth District

Dear Friends,

The Department of Cultural Affairs is pleased to present this cultural guide celebrating the vibrant Asian and Pacific Islander American cultural traditions that continue to shape the unique heritage of our city. The department usually includes the many events highlighting the extraordinary range of Asian and Pacific Islander American experiences, from traditional arts and practices to the contemporary voices of our artists and storytellers celebrated each year. This year, with the COVID-19 pandemic and planned events cancelled, we still want to celebrate our artists who uplift us with their creativity during unpredictable times.

In line with the Mayor’s focus on creating a more livable and sustainable city, the Department and our partners provide services, like this cultural guide, to enrich the quality of life for our residents and visitors. This celebration honors people—locally and globally—whose experiences draw from vast and distinct cultural traditions found throughout Asia and the Pacific Rim. Millions of Los Angeles natives trace their ancestry or cultural heritage to one or more regions found in South Asia, Southeast Asia, East Asia, Central Asia, the Pacific Islands, and much of the Middle East.

I invite you to join me in celebrating Asian and Pacific Islander American heritage throughout the month of May and beyond. Enjoy the art produced by our accomplished artists highlighted in this guide and the cultural heritage of our Asian Pacific Americans in Los Angeles.

Sincerely,

Danielle Brazell

Influences of Asian Pacific American Culture in the City of Los Angeles

Geography
As a major metropolitan area, Los Angeles is home to many Asian Pacific American communities such as Little Tokyo, Chinatown, Koreatown, Thai Town, and Historic Filipino Town. Beyond the City of Los Angeles, a large number of Asian Pacific Americans call other areas of Los Angeles county their home, resulting in high concentrations in areas such as Hollywood, the beach communities, the valleys, and beyond—further diversifying the fabric of this great City.

Arts and Culture
The City of Los Angeles benefits from a wealth of Asian and Pacific Islander influenced cultures. Many museums, cultural centers, historical landmarks, theaters, and dance companies are in the City of Los Angeles. The City offers countless cultural resources that represent the traditions of each Asian and Pacific Islander culture in a unique and exciting way.

Family
The many Asian Pacific American community centers throughout the City provide family programming to a growing population, ensuring that the traditions of the cultures and an appreciation of the histories are shared with our young people and carried on throughout future generations.

History
Since the 19th Century, thousands of Asians and Pacific Islanders have migrated to America, making their homes throughout California and Los Angeles. Asian and Pacific Islander Americans represent a significant portion of the population of the City of Los Angeles, contributing greatly to the economy, politics, and culture of the City.

The Bicycle brand t shirts you wore

by Mary Cheung

Bicycle brand,
made in Hong Kong,
just like you.

I take a deep breath,
I am surrounded by you
I take a deep breath,
and inhale your scent,

I am transported back in time.
I take a deep breath,
and my childhood bleeds into view.
I am home again.

Home smells of you,
the scent of cooking and care.
Of love, sweat and tears.

My nose is in your shirt.
I take a deep breath.

Bicycle Brand, inspected by #40.
Original stitches still intact.
Washed and handled with care,
all of these years... just like you did for us.

Softly I hold you to me again,
and I take a deep breath.

I carry you into me always.
I am not listening when my wife tells me over dinner at Soft Tofu, over spicy kim chi, a kid in her class has been absent for three weeks. I did not hear, either, the last time she told me the same story a week ago, maybe two. This is our sacred hour, where we gather the day we have lived separately and bring it to the table, a side dish we relish but never tasting it, never minding it if no one gets the story straight: it will come up again over another meal, another restaurant.

So it is today, she’s telling me the same story, same girl, only she’s back from the car accident: her mother, concussion, brother, broken arm, she more than a hundred stitches on her face. I try to match the name to her face, a name just two minutes ago my wife told me, and now forgotten, a face I must have seen when I visited her at work to help pin up crayola faces, but the name and face I can’t remember floats in the air, elusive, as I pick on the fried fish till nothing is left but an empty comb of bones.

She tells me that kid plays tetherball today, after school, among other kids, as though nothing has happened. She picks a tempura and places it on my side plate, scoops a spoonful of spicy tofu into my bowl and tells me her car makes noises under the hood, that she will bring it in to the shop—she will need a ride home. I eat silently, trying to remember the name or the face, and all those times I’ve waited by the playground, watching kids play tetherball.

Tomorrow, I shall be early to her school, reading the LA Times by the playground, against the laughter of kids, the thuds of tetherball against their clenched palms, their voices pulling me away from the late news. I shall look into their faces when they run by to find the one whose name lies hidden in my memory, whose absence for three weeks will make an appearance behind stitches.
Permanence is Only a Word

By Kayla Noriko Tange

Permanence is only a word
With no place like home
With no space in magic
There are places we can go
An abundance to call
But nowhere to call home

Even when I
Change my name
The body holds,
The darkest gifts
In the darkest times
Feeling empty and full
At the exact same time

In limbo
The space in between
This place of discomfort,
Longing to be seen
Moments of loss transcend
At the same speed as they began

Moving through Space
My new address
Contains
The same number
That haunts
My path
That might be
The end
And also beginning
But this fear
We both deny
Is so apparent

We forget
How good it feels
To forget
The past
With every new Memory made
Our story changes
To something
You only dreamed of

Permanence is only a word
With no place like home
With no space in magic
There are places we can go
An abundance to call
But nowhere to call home

In celebration of this year’s Asian and Pacific American Heritage Month, we present the following bibliography representing fictional and non-fictional works from a variety of Asian and Pacific Island cultures. These books are recommended for young readers, ages 10 to 12, and are available through the Los Angeles Public Library.

Many books, music, and films are available for free download from the Los Angeles Public Library at lapl.org. Live in Los Angeles but don’t have a library card? You can get immediate access to digital collections with an e-card that you can obtain at the lapl.org website. The e-card gives you immediate, unlimited, and free access to Los Angeles Public Library online resources.

A Suitcase of Seaweed and Other Poems

By Janet S. Wong; Decorations by the author

With a sense of pride in her Korean, Chinese, and American background, Janet Wong’s poetry reflects some of the differences between Chinese and Korean customs and culture and the American way of life. Divided into three sections—Korean, Chinese, and American—and with the author’s own explanation as to how the poems developed from experiences in her own life, these poems speak directly and simply to young people of many ethnic backgrounds, providing insights into the different kinds of prejudice that many children confront today.

American Eyes: New Asian-American Short Stories for Young Adults

By Lori M. Carlson, Editor

In this unique collection of touching and heartfelt short stories, ten young Asian-American writers re-create the conflicts that all young people feel living in two distinct worlds: one of memories and traditions, and one of today. Whether it includes dreams of gossiping with the prettiest blond in the class, not wanting to marry the man your parents love, or discovering that your true identity is ultimately your decision, these extraordinary stories by writers of Asian decent explore the confusion and ambivalence of growing up in a world different from the one their parents knew.

Extraordinary Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders

By Susan Sinnott

This volume spotlights a diverse group, ranging from pioneering immigrants to Hawai’i’s last queen, and on to present-day notables such as architect Maya Ying Lin and Yahoo cofounder Jerry Yang. Their achievements reflect a broad range of endeavor, from labor leaders and politicians to writers, athletes, scientists, actors, and artists. In addition to such well-known figures as Tiger Woods, Amy Tan, and Bruce Lee, this text includes information on architect Minoru Yamasaki, artist Nam June Paik, cinematographer James Wong Howe, and actress Anna May Wong. As well as group entries on Chinese railroad and laundry workers, Hawai’ian sugarcane workers, prisoners of Angel Island, Japanese-American internees and three individuals who fought internment, Vietnamese boat people, and Hmong refugees.

Asian Pacific Islander Literature

Our Voices, Our Histories: Asian American and Pacific Islander Women

Edited by Shirley Hune and Gail M. Nomura

Our Voices, Our Histories brings together thirty-five Asian American and Pacific Islander authors in a single volume to explore the historical experiences, perspectives, and actions of Asian American and Pacific Islander women in the United States and beyond. The contributions present new research on diverse aspects of Asian American and Pacific Islander women’s history, from the politics of language, to the role of food, to experiences as adoptees, mixed race, and second generation, while acknowledging shared experiences as women of color in the United States.

Bibliography

Portraits of Asian-Pacific Americans

By Kim Sakamoto Steidl
Illustrated by Franz Steidl

This book presents the achievements of Asian-Pacific Americans and includes language arts activities, geography, and history. There are more than 20 sketches on a variety of well-known people as well as historical timelines to put things in perspective.

Princess Leilani and the Lanu Tree

By Juliann T Anesi and Genielysse Reyes

In this coming-of-age story, Leilani is a girl training to become a healer. With her little brother, Kea, by her side, she is determined to heal others with the plants and trees that grow in the wondrous Healing Forest. But when Leilani’s world is shattered by loss, she must learn how to overcome her grief and heal herself. This story teaches readers about Pacific Islander culture, the damage caused by greed, and the importance of forgiveness.

Role Models Who Look Like Me: Asian Americans & Pacific Islanders Who Made History

By Jasmine M. Cho

Rhymes and watercolor illustrations walk you through the stories of various Asian American and Pacific Islander changemakers who are largely missing from U.S. history classes and textbooks. This book intends to inspire and comfort. It was created to fill what was missing from Jasmine’s childhood; to give representation to the underrepresented and to raise the visibility of the invisible.
Cambodian Literature

Cambodian Folk Stories from the Gatiloke

By Muriel Paskin Carrison,
From a translation by The Venerable Kong Chhean

This book presents fifteen tales that are translations from the Gatiloke, an ancient literary tradition from Cambodia. The stories concern simple villagers, monks, lords, kings, and talking animals. It includes an appendix with factual information on Cambodia.

The Clay Marble

By Minfong Ho

In the late 1970s, twelve-year-old Dara is separated from her family and her best friend by war, becoming a refugee. She finds the courage to survive as she struggles to reunite with the people she loves.

Little Brother

By Allan Baillie

Brothers Mang and Vithy, having escaped the Khmer Rouge, are being pursued through the Cambodian jungle. When the younger boy sprains his ankle, Mang leads their recent captors away from him. A single shot rings out and he does not return. Vithy, about eleven, now sets out to accomplish the brothers’ original plan of escaping to the Thai border, hoping to be reunited with Mang. This excellent tale of courage and survival lends real life flesh to textbook facts and will be welcomed in most collections.
Silent Lotus

By Jeanne M. Lee

Young Lotus was born deaf and unable to speak. Her days are filled with basket-weaving, swimming and walking among the wild birds, “joining them in their graceful steps.” Although she is good-natured and beautiful, the other children run from Lotus, leaving her lonely and heavy-hearted. Seeking solace from the gods, the girl and her parents travel to “the temple in the city,” where Lotus, imitating the temple dancers, exhibits the extraordinary talent that eventually wins her favor with the king and queen. Set in Cambodia, Lee’s tender tale intertwines universal childhood concerns with intriguing elements of a rich and unfamiliar culture.
Chinese Literature

The Ancient Chinese
By Virginia Schomp

Focusing mainly on the Shang, Zhou, Qin and Han dynasties, this book explores ancient China through its social structure. It takes a look at its people and details the duties of an emperor, the activities of a merchant, and much more. It also describes some of the discoveries and writings that have led to our present-day understanding of this fascinating civilization.

Maya Lin
By Bettina Ling

This book describes the life and work of the Chinese American architect who designed the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., and the Civil Rights Memorial in Montgomery, Alabama.

Ties that Bind, Ties that Break: A Novel
By Lensey Namioka

Third Sister in the Tao family, Ailin has watched her two older sisters go through the painful process of having their feet bound. In China in 1911, all the women of good families follow this ancient tradition, but Ailin loves to run away from her governess and play games with her male cousins. Knowing she will never run again once her feet are bound, Ailin rebels and refuses to follow this torturous tradition.
Filipino Literature

Growing up Filipino: Stories for Young Adults
Collected and Edited by Cecilia Manguerra Brainard

These short stories offer a highly textured portrait of Filipino youth. Tough but relevant topics addressed include a gay youth’s affection for his supportive mother, the role of religious didacticism in the formation of a childhood perception, consumer culture as it is experienced by modern teens in Manila, and coping with bullies. There are more Filipinos living in the U.S. than most people realize, but finding literature reflective of their experiences is difficult.

Filipinos in California (California Cultures Series)
By Michelle Motoyoshi

Once called the “forgotten Asian Americans,” Filipinos have become the largest Asian American group in California. Through a brief historical overview and biographies of notable people, this book describes the influence Filipino Americans have had on California. Filipinos in California includes biographies on Carlos Bulosan, writer; Vicki Manolo Draves, Olympic diver; Robert Kikuchi-Yngojo, performance artist; Emil Guillermo, broadcast journalist; and others. It also includes demographic information, a list of resources, and other interesting facts.

The Philippines, Roots of my Heritage: A Journey of Discovery by a Pilipina American Teenager
By Melissa Macagba Ignacio

The reminiscences of a thirteen-year-old Filipino American girl, who spent one year in the Philippines, introduce the islands’ history, people, culture, and industry.
Indian Literature

A Brahmin’s Castles in the Air
Written and illustrated by Rashmi Sharma
Adapted from the ancient Panchatantra fables, this is the story of a young Brahmin who preferred to lie back and dream his big dreams, and even though he is quite poor in material wealth, he is very rich in his imagination.

Diwali (Celebrations)
By Chris Deshpande
Photographs by Prodeepta Das
This book describes how Hindu children prepare for and celebrate Diwali, the Hindu festival of light, and share their holiday traditions with a multi-cultural group of classmates.

Tale of India: Folktales from Bengal, Punjab, and Tamil
Edited and Illustrated by Svabhu Kohli and Viplov Singh
This collection of 16 traditional tales transports readers to the beguiling world of Indian folklore. Transcribed by Indian and English folklorists in the nineteenth century, these stories brim with wit and magic. Fans of fairy tales will encounter familiar favorites—epic quests and talking animals—alongside delightful surprises—an irreverent sense of humor and an array of bold, inspiring heroines.

Japanese Literature

Japanese Art & Culture (World Art & Culture)
By Kamini Khanduri

When does a poem become a picture? What is the tea ceremony? How were the first color woodblock prints made? This book offers a window into Japanese culture, reflecting its history, technology, beliefs, and every-day life. Every piece of Japanese art tells us something about the environment and the culture it was developed in, so that we can see how and why people make their art.

Passage to Freedom: The Sugihara Story
By Ken Mochizuki
Illustrated by Dom Lee
Afterword by Hiroki Sugihara

This inspiring book tells the true story of Chiune Sugihara, the “Japanese Schindler,” who saved thousands of Jews during World War II.

Swords and Samurai: The Ancient warrior Culture of the East
By Philip Steele

This colorful, informative book explains the amazing civilizations of ancient China and Japan—cultures that existed for thousands of years before Europe developed or America was discovered.

Sword of the Samurai: Adventure Stories from Japan
Readers who delight in stories of knights will be happy to discover this collection of eleven tales about the medieval Japanese warriors whose exploits rival those of their European counterparts. These well-documented stories of adventure and misadventure are not only good tales, but they also provide a look at a way of life bound by ironclad tradition. Though the stories vary in tone and intent, the book offers a serious and respectful look at a fascinating aspect of the countries history.

Yoko learns to read
By Rosemary Wells

Yoko wants to learn to read! Mama is eager to help, even though as a native-born Japanese she can’t read English herself. She takes Yoko to the library, where they pick out lots of books with appealing pictures. Soon, Yoko is ready all by herself! In a poignant ending, Yoko begins to teach her mama how to read in just the same way.

Yoko’s show and tell
By Rosemary Wells

Yoko sneaks an antique Japanese doll to school for show-and-tell, it is injured in an unfortunate accident. Hopefully, a quick trip to the doll hospital will set things right!
Korean Literature

The Girl-son
By Anne E. Neuberger
Based on the life of Induk Pahk, a Korean educator whose widowed mother disguised her as a boy at the age of eight in order for her to attend school, a choice forbidden to girls in the early twentieth century in that country.

Peacebound Trains
By Haemi Balgassi
Illustrated by Chris K. Soentpiet
Sumi’s grandmother tells the story of her family’s escape from Seoul during the Korean War, while they watch the trains which will eventually bring her mother back from army service.

The Shoes from Yang San Valley
By Yong-ik Kim
Decorations by Park Minja
Alone in his war-torn homeland, a young Korean boy has only the memory of a special pair of silk brocade shoes to remind him of the good days of the past and give him hope for the future.

So Far from the Bamboo Grove
By Yoko Kawashima Watkins
A fictionalized autobiography in which eleven-year-old Yoko escapes from Korea to Japan with her mother and sister at the end of World War II.
A Step from Heaven

By An Na

In this first novel, a young girl describes her family’s experience in the United States after their emigration from Korea. While on the flight from Korea to California, four-year-old Young Ju concludes that they are on their way to heaven! After she arrives, however, she and her family struggle in the new world, weighed down by the difficulty of learning English, their insular family life, and the traditions of the country they left behind.

Laotian Literature

Dia’s Story Cloth

By Dia Cha

The story cloth made for Dia Cha by her aunt and uncle chronicles the life of the author and her family in their native Laos and their eventual immigration to the United States.

A Hmong Family

By Nora Murphy

This book makes the refugee experience more meaningful by relating personal stories that reveal why families fled their native countries and how they seek to preserve their culture while assimilating into modern life in the United States. This book features 11-year-old Xiong Pao Vang; his family tells of wars in Laos and the involvement of this country that led to their eventual emigration.

A Mien Family

By Sara Gogol

The Mien family, the Saechaos, were refugees from Laos. The parents, Farm On and Ta Jow, met in a refugee camp in Thailand, and the story of their eventual settlement in Portland, Oregon, makes for interesting reading. The culture shock they experienced and the tensions between the parents and their Americanized children are described.
Vietnamese Literature

Hoang Anh: A Vietnamese-American Boy

By Diane Hoyt-Goldsmith
Photographs by Lawrence Migdale

Using the New Year celebration of Tet as their unifying theme, the collaborators on this book weave myriad details about Vietnamese history, customs, folklore, and family life into the text, and effectively convey the international political context surrounding emigration.

Lee Ann: The Story of a Vietnamese-American Girl

By Tricia Brown
Photographs by Ted Thai

Emigrating from Vietnam, the Trangs have become exactly what this photo-essay’s subtitle implies: an Americanized family that enjoys traditional Asian goals, foods, and holidays such as Tet. Old and new ways are cleverly juxtaposed, and both creators have captured the universal essence of childhood.

Vietnamese Children’s Favorite Stories

Retold by Tran Thi Minh Phuoc
Illustrated by Nguyen Thi Hop & Nguyen Dong

Vietnamese Children’s Favorite Stories is a charming collection of fifteen tales beloved by Vietnamese children for generations, retold here for Western children. Experienced storyteller Tran Thi Minh Phuoc vividly recounts such favorites as the story of Tam and Cam (the Vietnamese version of Cinderella), the legend of the Jade Rabbit, the legend of the Mai Flower, and many others. Children and adults alike will be enchanted by the legends of bravery and beauty, fables about nature, and stories in which integrity, hard work, and a kind heart triumph over deception, laziness, and greed. Gods, peasants, kings, and fools spring to life to celebrate Vietnam’s rich cultural heritage, forging bonds with people around the world, and bringing us all together in ways that only great stories can do. The illustration by artists Thi Hop Nguyen and Dong Nguyen capture the charm and flavor of traditional Vietnamese culture.

Why Vietnamese Immigrants Came to America

By Lewis K. Parker

This book explores Vietnamese immigration to the United States from the 1960s to the present, and looks at the contributions of Vietnamese Americans to the culture of the United States.

As a leading, progressive arts and cultural agency, DCA empowers Los Angeles’s vibrant communities by supporting and providing access to quality visual, literary, musical, performing, and educational arts programming; managing vital cultural centers; preserving historic sites; creating public art; and funding services provided by arts organizations and individual artists.

Formed in 1925, DCA promotes arts and culture as a way to ignite a powerful dialogue, engage LA's residents and visitors, and ensure LA’s varied cultures are recognized, acknowledged, and experienced. DCA’s mission is to strengthen the quality of life in Los Angeles by stimulating and supporting arts and cultural activities, ensuring public access to the arts for residents and visitors alike.

DCA advances the social and economic impact of arts and culture through grantmaking, public art, community arts, performing arts, and strategic marketing, development, and design. DCA creates and supports arts programming, maximizing relationships with other city agencies, artists, and arts and cultural nonprofit organizations to provide excellent service in neighborhoods throughout Los Angeles.

For more information, please visit culturela.org or follow us on Facebook at facebook.com/culturela, Instagram @culture_la, and Twitter @culture_la.

DCA Managed Historic Sites (2)

DCA provides conservation services and educational programming and tours for two of LA’s most treasured historic sites, Hollyhock House and the Watts Towers. Conservation efforts are coordinated through DCA’s Historic Site Preservation Office. DCA’s Museum Education and Tours Program coordinates tours and interpretive programs for both young people and adults.

Hollyhock House is Frank Lloyd Wright’s first Los Angeles project. Built between 1919 and 1921, it represents his earliest efforts to develop a regionally appropriate style of architecture for Southern California. Barnsdall Park, including the iconic Hollyhock House, was awarded landmark status in 2007 and listed on the National Register of Historic Places. As the nation’s highest historic landmark designation, the site has been formally recognized for its role in interpreting the heritage and history of the United States. Hollyhock House was inscribed on UNESCO’s World Heritage List in 2019.

Watts Towers, built over 34 years by Simon Rodia, are a Los Angeles icon. Built from found objects, including broken glass, sea shells, pottery, and tile, the Towers stand as a monument to the human spirit and the persistence of a singular vision. The Watts Towers, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, are a National Historic Landmark, a State of California Historic Park, and Historic-Cultural Monument No. 15 as previously designated by the City of Los Angeles Cultural Heritage Commission.
